

The T-33 T-Bird

America's first fighter jet, The T-33 T-Bird originated as a variation of the F-80 fighter. It is capable of speeds in excess of 500 mph and features a pressurized cabin, dual controls and ejection seats.

Manufactured by Lockheed, it was used by the United States Air Force for pilot training until 1990 and is still actively used in Canada. The Canadian version features a slightly different cockpit configuration than its American counterpart.

The P-51 Mustang

In August, 1942 Army Air Forces ordered 1,200 P-51As from North American Aviation. The first P-51A flew in February, 1943, and deliveries began the following month. The Planes of Fame has two flying P-51 Mustangs in its collection.

The P-51 sports an Allison 1,125 hp single engine capable of speeds to 390 mph.

Your Incredible Day at the

PLANES OF FAME AIR MUSEUM

Our driver will meet you in Los Angeles and deliver you to the Museum in comfort and style. There, you'll be met by a Museum representative, escorted to the "Members Only" Flight Area, and introduced to your pilot. You'll receive an in-depth introduction to your chosen aircraft, including a detailed safety briefing. You'll then be strapped into the cockpit of classic military aircraft for an incredible flight back in time. Tour the Planes of Fame Museum before returning to LA.

\ We encourage you to plan a back-up day in your schedule for weather or other unavoidable flying delays.*

The Museum

Founded in 1957 with six airplanes, the Planes of Fame Air Museum at Chino Airport now features more than 150 aircraft, including the world's largest collection of Japanese planes.

Approximately 30 of the museum's aircraft are in flying condition. Flights are available only to museum members and on an extremely limited basis.

The Museum's aircraft often perform in airshows and appear in many movies and TV shows.

Incredible Adventures has delivered flying adventures for over 20 years and has extensive experience in aerial film productions. Ask us to help deliver the aircraft you need for your next project.
