

DC-3 / C-47 Flying Adventures

Flight Training – Scenic Flights – Tours – Special Events

Your chance to fly a legend!

Fly a legendary airliner in the US. The Douglas DC-3 (also known as the C-47 Skytrain) is the plane that made air travel popular.

Pricing starts at $2950

For pilots, a DC-3 adventure isn't just a ride. It's a chance for you to take off, fly and land a piece of aviation history. You'll be the one in the pilot's seat. Incredible Adventures can arrange everything from introductory flights to complete SIC and PIC training.

For non-pilots, it's a chance to travel back in time, together with friends or family.

Fly a DC-3 Over California

Take off in a classic DC-3 from historic Flabob Airport, located in downtown Riverside, CA, on the eastern side of the Los Angeles basin. (The closest major airports are Ontario Airport, John Wayne Airport, Palm Springs International and LAX.) The private airport is one of the oldest in California and maintains a 1930's feel.

Pilots Receive Stick Time – Dual Instruction

Fly a DC-3 with an FAA-certified flight instructor. Choose a one hour or two-hour orientation flight and you will get to experience takeoffs and landings, approaches, taxiing and more. Only a basic pilot's license is required.

Note: Tailwheel and multi-engine time is not required for familiarization flights, but in order to obtain an SIC (Second-In-Command) or PIC (Pilot-In-Command) endorsement, you'll need to first have a multi-engine rating. It is recommended you obtain a tailwheel endorsement in a smaller plane to reduce the amount of time necessary to obtain your SIC or PIC rating.

Non-Pilots Enjoy Historic Flights in a Classic Airliner

Our aircraft is approved to carry passengers and can easily accommodate parties of up to eight people.

Contact Incredible Adventures to schedule a private flying adventure in a classic airliner.
